

Saturday, August 8th, 4 - 8 pm,
All Shades of Green

District A will team up with ballet tech cincinnati, Green Corner Studios and Marketplace, and Kennedy Heights Arts Center to host the first Green Community Event Saturday, August 8, 2009 from 4-8PM

District A invites you to the first-ever collaboration among our three Kennedy Heights Arts Venues – your best opportunity to see them all and your neighbors, too!

The Green Corner Studios and Marketplace will host All Shades of Green, an eclectic art show and sale featuring imaginative work from area artists who captures the essence of green in its finest form in a variety of media.

ballet tech cincinnati will host live jazz, acoustic and rock music on its new outdoor sound stage and outdoor vendor market including food and beverage vendors.

Kennedy Heights Arts Center, with FUNKe Fired Arts, invites all of us to throw pots; dig up local clay and fire it fast using Japanese raku style pit firing. Also enjoy Earth 2009, the third installment of the elements art series, a juried exhibition curated by Bob Kling.

Come early and green and enjoy it all.
